bringing dockdogs to your backyard

- If you haven't already, please join the discussion forum the Dockdogs website. Much of our club communication as well as all of the National DockDogs organization's communication are done through the online forum. There is also a "child board" on the forum just for Rocky Mountain DockDogs members. It is a great place to learn more about the sport from other forum participants - who have a wealth of knowledge and can answer just about any question that you may have.

- We also like to profile our members on our website! If you are interested in sharing some fun information about you and your dog and how you got started in DockDogs, please send an email to tracy@rockymountaindockdogs.com with your story (please try to keep it short) and a favorite photo of your dog and/or you and your dog. Don't forget to include your dogs' age, whether or not he/she has a DockDogs title and your dogs Personal Best numbers.
- IMPORTANT: If you plan on competing and registering online in more than one event during the current season AND if you want to achieve an official DockDogs title AND be eligible to attend the National or World Championships, you MUST become a Worldwide DockDogs Member in addition to your Rocky Mountain DockDogs membership. Please go to the DockDogs.com home page, and click on the links to Worldwide Membership Form or Family Membership Form at the top of the page.

Thank you! We will see you at the dock!
